

Compu-Teach brings you

An Interactive CD-ROM
For grades 7-12

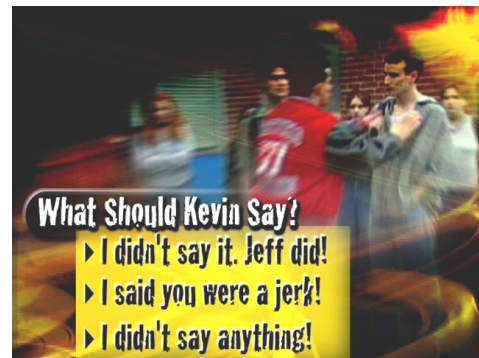

“[I am] excited that Destiny Interactive has developed such an innovative way to encourage positive character development among today’s students.”

- Governor Frank Keating of Oklahoma

Compu-Teach has partnered with Destiny Interactive to bring you “Central High,” a full-length interactive software program on CD-ROM for grades 7–12. “Central High” is a software program that combines video and audio to form an interactive multimedia tool designed to teach students alternative ways to handle real-life scenarios.

The multimedia format of “Central High” will help teachers meet curriculum goals in the areas of violence prevention, ethics and morality by providing an effective means to reach today’s students. “Central High” will be a positive influence on behavioral development, communication, and personal life management skills.

In “Central High” the student helps Kevin, the main character, make constructive choices through a series of scenarios involving daily life choices including cheating, drugs, drinking, driving while intoxicated, as well as personal and peer conflicts.

Compu-Teach presents “Central High” as an excellent addition to your curriculum for teaching violence prevention and personal life skills. “Central High’s” interactive multimedia format is an effective way to communicate to today’s youth.
